

'Partial Manifestation Capture' 22 February 2018

Investigation Report

(Client's name and location omitted for reasons of privacy)

On the 22 February 2018 at exactly 16.56, a young mother was filming her daughter as she walked down the stairs for the first time. There were three people in the house at the time; the mother who filmed the footage, the young daughter and the father who was upstairs in another room.

The movie footage lasts for 30 seconds and we have the original footage and is considered 100% genuine.

On reviewing the movie, the mother noticed what she described as an 'orb' timed at 0.13 seconds and moving quickly 'right to left' behind the daughter walking down the stairs. The mother, who is highly spiritual, brought the movie to our attention for an opinion. She has also given permission for the footage to be shared by us for research reasons. Before we look at what we discovered please take a moment to watch the raw original footage. The camera used was an iPhone at a frame rate of 29 frames per second.

ORIGINAL FOOTAGE

The original footage was then analysed and the audio extracted. At 3 seconds, which can be heard on the original movie, an EVP was found. The voice sounds male and we can rule out the father as he speaks a few seconds later in the recording and it's clear it isn't him. The EVP speaks either four words or three words with the last word being two syllables. It sounds similar too: 'Don't Be Frigh-tened'. The EVP was slowed down to 170bpm and it is in the human speech frequency. The EVP also appears to be a whisper.

Listen to the sampled EVP via this link: EVP

No other EVP's were found.

The original footage was then slowed down and the area of interest sampled. A filter was applied to enhance any partial white areas due to the circular anomaly timed at 0.13 seconds being very faint.

This sampled version can be viewed here: SAMPLED MOVIE

Areas of interest.

The anomaly moves from right to left very quickly. It's large, approx one foot circular. This is not a reflection or shadow of the young daughter. If this was a dust particle, the anomaly would have to be close to the camera for this size of dust orb, but the anomaly is behind the daughter and some distance away.

On closer inspection on the sampled footage with the filter applied, as the anomaly moves right to left, a shadow (to the left of the child) also partially manifests and moves at the same time. This rules out completely any dust particle.

The EVP appears to be reacting to the environment, the daughter walking down the stairs for the first time.

And likewise and of major importance, at 0.12 seconds the child reacts to 'something', turns her head to the left and upwards, one second later the anomaly flashes past her. The child is looking directly at it. There are no sounds within the footage that could account for the child's reaction.

There are three possible causes for the child to turn her head suddenly like she did.

1. Sound – Nothing was found at this point on the movie footage (no EVP) but it doesn't rule out a voice that got the child's attention but not picked up by the phones microphone.
2. Energy – It is possible that an energy charge, a static charge as the anomaly manifests, maybe responsible.
3. Cold blast – Another possibility. Could be a combination of all three, or something else not at this point we haven't considered.

When analysing the footage, attempts were made to take a screen shot or a fixed image of the anomaly but this was found to be impossible. The only conclusion is the speed of the anomaly was too fast for the 29 frames per seconds used on the iPhone to allow it.

There is little doubt that the child, the EVP and the light anomaly is reacting to each other and the environment. It also appears to be intelligent.

Conclusion.

It is impossible to say with 100% certainly, but all the evidence so far suggests a Partial Manifestation. Nothing negative in it's nature.

Given the circumstances of why the footage was filmed; the daughter walking down the stairs for the first time. It's easy to see why an entity (a spirit) thought there was a danger to the child and reacted, no different to what a human would do.

Tony Hayes

23 February 2018